

Invitation for String Players to perform Song to the Earth

Corrina Bonshek, DeepBlue and Michael Askill are collaborating on a production called Song to the Earth, which will be performed at Palm Beach Parklands as part of a major outdoor festival on Sat 7 and Sun 8 April, 2018, and on 4 evenings in mid May at a central Brisbane location (exact dates and location to be announced in January, 2018).

String players aged 13-20 years with 3rd grade AMEB playing ability or above are invited to join the production. Participants will learn Corrina Bonshek's Song to the Earth along with members of DeepBlue, develop a unique installation, and perform alongside DeepBlue and master percussionist Dr Michael Askill as part of this professional production.

The cost of participation is free. You will be sent your part in January. To look at a sample score visit this page <http://bonmusic.com.au/song-to-the-earth-2018/>

A highlights video of the pilot of this work for Bleach* Festival 2017 can be viewed here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5L-76S5gV1U>

You are encouraged to practice your part with your music teacher. You are required to attend all rehearsals and encouraged to play in all performances. If you are not available to play in all performances you have the option of performing in a minimum of 4 of the 6 performances. Please email gretackelly@gmail.com if you have any questions.

About the creative team

Composer Corrina Bonshek writes nature-inspired music that has been described as 'beautifully shaped and contemplative' (Clare MacClean, 2013) and 'deeply spiritual in intent' (Anne Boyd, 2002). Her music is performed regularly in Australia by soloists and ensembles (Jason Noble, Alex Raineri, Ady Ensemble, Sirius Ensemble, Charisma Ensemble, Kupka's Piano). She has strong ties to Asia, which she visits regularly for residencies, premieres and workshops with young musicians. Corrina was inaugural visiting scholar of Nirmita Institute for Young Composers in 2016, resident composer working with young Thai musicians at Burapha University International Festival of Music and Performing Arts, and her recent compositions have been premiered at Taipei International Festival of Arts, Sydney Sacred Music Festival, Bleach* Festival.

DeepBlue, the orchestra unleashed, comprises strings, electronics and physical theatre. Their performances combine the lush strings of an orchestra, the groove of a band, the drama of theatre, and the excitement of a circus. Since 2007 DeepBlue have developed six shows, four CDs, one DVD and received huge exposure through their live performances and TV appearances across Australia, and at festivals in the US, India, Vietnam, Taiwan, Malaysia, Thailand, Indonesia and China. DeepBlue were finalists in one of the highest rated episodes of Australia's Got Talent 2011 and won the Australian Performing Arts Centre Association's 2009 Drover Award for Excellent Audience Response. Their YoungBlue program began with a vision to provide rural and regional young musicians an opportunity to perform with a touring orchestra. Due to its success, the program has been extended to offer week long holiday programs and tailored school workshops across Australia.

DeepBlue Reviews

"Think ELO and Nigel Kennedy's exuberant lovechild on stage. Think cello player walking backwards on stilts. Think 17 young and mobile players enthusiastically performing everything from Bowie to Rachmaninoff and you have the DeepBlue Orchestra." Fairfax Digital Independent Weekly

"There was quite a lot of 'Pow!', quite a lot of 'Wow!', and it was definitely 'Now'." Australia Stage review by Peter Bleby

"Throw non-stop choreography that illuminates conversational exchanges between instruments and theatrical realizations of string technique into the mix and this stereotype is forever wiped... The approach is immediate. Note bound, seated, reverent and retiring these determined, bright-eyed communicators are anything but." Australian Stage review by Gillian Wills

Dr Michael Askill (PhD – University of Queensland) is a percussionist, composer, musical director, musical ambassador and educator - an icon of Australian music, known and admired for his enduring contribution to the Australian contemporary music landscape and his original blending of Asian and Western Sounds. Before embarking on a successful independent career, he was Principal Timpanist with the Melbourne Symphony and then Principal Percussionist with the Sydney Symphony Orchestra. His collaboration with one of Australia's most highly respected choreographers, Graeme Murphy, resulted in a number of ballets including Free Radicals, Salome, Air and Other Invisible Forces for Sydney Dance Company. Michael is Percussionist Specialist at the Queensland Academy - Creative Industries Campus, Lecturer in Percussion at the University of Queensland and was a featured artist at the 2016 Australian Percussion Gathering held at the Queensland Conservatorium where he was awarded a Lifetime Achievement Award from the Percussive Arts Society.
